And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

Those of you who missed seeing the youngsters perform "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown" last Friday evening really missed a treat. It was amazing to see the amount of talent that Jan Albritton was able to get out of these kids.

A great number of so called news releases come across our desk each week that are designed to promote someone's product disguised as a news story. This is a method created by enterprising public relations people as an effort to get free advertising in newspapers around the country.

For the most part we just consign them to the waste basket since we have to make our living selling our advertising space and find it a little hard to survive when we give this space away.

But this week we happened to run across a news release from the Solo Cup Foundation that wasn't trying to promote their products and carried a message that we feel is well worth passing along.

In this era of preoccupation with sex and nudity under the guise of freedom of expression, a simple letter written to man about the image of womanhood is creating a lot of interest throughout the country. Some radio personalities such as Los Angeles' famous Dick Wittinghill have read it repeatedly on their radio programs. Newspapers and magazines, both religious and secular, are reprinting it. And private citizens are copying it for distribution to their friends.

This is what "Open Letter to Man" says:

"I am a Woman.

"I am your wife, your sweetheart, your mother, your daughter, your sister . . . your friend. I NEED YOUR HELP.

"I was created to give to the world GENTLENESS, UNDERSTANDING, SERENITY, BEAUTY AND LOVE. I am finding it increasingly difficult to fulfill my purpose.

"Many people in advertising, motion pictures, television and radio have ignored my inner qualities and have repeatedly used me ONLY as a symbol of

SEX

"This humiliates me; it destroys my dignity; it prevents me from being what YOU want me to be—an example of—

"Beauty, Inspiration and love—

"Love for my children, love for my husband, love of my God and country.

"I need your help to restore me to my true position . . . to ALLOW me to fulfill the PURPOSE FOR WHICH I WAS CREATED.

"I know you will find a way."

This letter was written about ten years ago by songwriter Sy Miller and his wife, the former actress, Jill Jackson. But it wasn't until "Open Letter to Man" was discovered shortly over a year ago by the Rev. Francis J. Caffrey of the Maryknoll Fathers that it received widespread circulation.

"Open Letter to Man" is a simple, sex-oriented image of womanhood. It's difficult today for a girl or young woman to believe anyone really cares about morality, femininity and virtue in our society. But the challenge is simply stated for all to meet, "I know you will find a way."

The invitation to help find the way is open to all. Copies of the "Open Letter" are available free of charge. Simply send your name and address, plus the number of copies desired to: Open Letter, The Solo Cup Foundation, 7431 East End Avenue, Chicago, Illinois 60649.

In addition, a free recording of "LET THERE BE PEACE," composed by Sy Miller and Jill Jackson and performed by Dora Hall, will be included.

Nominating Period for County ASC Committee to Start July 28

Jones County farmers will soon have the opportunity to nominate by petition candidates for ASC community committee posts.

The nominating period will begin July 28 and close August 17. "This year we hope farmers in Jones County will nominate by petition full slates for all four communities. A full slate means a minimum of six candidates to choose from in electing a community committee of three members and two alternates," J. E. Nix, Chairman of the Jones County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said. All ASC community committees are elected annually. The newly-elected community committee will convene shortly after their September election to elect one new ASC County Committee member and two alternates. County Committee members serve three-year terms, with one new member elected each year. Alternates are elected annually.

Mr. Nix explained that the County ASC Committee administers agricultural programs such as marketing quotas and acreage allotments, price support loans and purchases, conservation cost-sharing and other farm action programs at the county level, dealing directly with producers. Community committees not only elect County Committee members and alternates, but also help the County Committee administer these programs.

National Wheat Referendum Postponed by Secretary Hardin

Secretary of Agriculture, Clifford M. Hardin, has announced postponement of the national wheat referendum previously scheduled for July 27-31, according to John E. Nix, Chairman of the Jones County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Committee. The action was authorized by Congress. The postponement permits the USDA to delay holding the referendum not later than October 15, 1970, or 30 days after Congress adjourns, whichever date is earlier.

Accordingly the U. S. Department of Agriculture's ASCS, which administers the wheat, feed grain, and similar programs, has instructed its State and county offices across the nation to withhold ballots and other referendum materials, Mr. Nix said.

The Chairman explained that basic farm legislation requires a referendum for wheat marketing quotas. However, the Agricultural Act of 1965 suspended this referendum requirement from 1965 through the 1970 crop year. Unless new farm legislation will again go into effect, and a referendum will then be required in 1970 for the 1971 crop years.

FROM THE FILES . . .

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
(July 24, 1925)

This week two of the several changes of locations, that are to take place soon, were completed. The Wilson Motor Company has moved across the street into their handsome, modern brick building. Elegance is a mild word to use in speaking of this prominent house. From the modernness of this house and the equipment they are installing it is a sure sign that the "Ford" is here to stay.

The corner building that was formerly occupied by the Wilson Motor Co., is now the new home of the W. J. Jackson Grocery Co. Mr. Jackson is inviting his customers to followup his house and see how well they like his new location.

The Hamlin I. O. O. F. No. 427 have recently moved from the Ferguson building to the hall formerly occupied by the American Legion.

The terms of the old officers having expired, the following new officers have been elected:

A. H. Milsap, Noble Grand; J. W. Riddle, Vice Grand; W. L. Cash, Secretary, E. L. Harris, Treasurer.

For months, perhaps years, it was thought by many that the road from here to Spur, including intermediate points, from Aspermont on, was to go by Sagerton, but a telegram from Burkett, which we saw yesterday states positively that this road will be diverted by way of Hamlin, after reaching Stamford. This makes the road a little longer perhaps, but Hamlin is a mighty good town and is in Jones County, friends of the move point out. --Stamford Leader.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(July 21, 1950)

A new development in the cultural field of Hamlin is in the offing with the announcement from Joe Clements that he is to form the Hamlin Apollo Boys' Choir.

Clements has recognized the possibilities contained in organization of a group of this sort as a civic enterprise that could assume proportions of Albany's famed Fandangle. That Hamlin is in need of some form of musical promotion is clearly evident.

Auditions for the choir are to be held Monday afternoon at the First Baptist Church at 3:30 p.m. It was emphasized by Clements that boys who are candidates for the choir need not be possessed of an outstanding voice to qualify. Age range of the prospective organization is to be held between seven and 13 so as to build from a soprano and alto range.

This organization is to be a community sponsored undertaking and will be non-sectarian in character.

Negligible expense will be encountered in the development of the latent talent of the youth of the community and it is to be a perpetual activity.

Mothers and friends are urged to attend the Monday meeting at which refreshments will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hudson and John Graham have returned from the state firemen's school which was held at College Station.

The school was held from July 10-14 and 320 men were enrolled under the tutelage of 67 instructors.

Hudson was enrolled for the fire marshal's course and Graham took the basic firemen's course.

Through attendance at the big fire event the Hamlin delegates were successful in earning a good insurance rate for Hamlin. Non-attendance at the meeting would have resulted in an automatic three percent penalty against the town.

Hudson reported that the calibre of instruction at the school for this year was unusually high and the benefits to the local men will be passed on to the balance of the volunteer department.

TEN YEARS AGO
(July 21, 1960)

The second annual Junior Rodeo, sponsored by the Hamlin Riding Club, will be launched with a street parade Thursday, August 11, and will run for three nights.

Youths from all over West Texas are expected to enter again this year. Nearly 100 contestants participated in the show last year.

The Best All-Round Cowboy and Cowgirl will each be presented with handsome saddles this year. The winners of the saddles must enter at least two events to be eligible.

Riding Clubs from all over the state are expected here for the opening parade that will include floats, rodeo performers and other displays.

The events planned this year include bull riding, bareback bronc riding, sponsor's contest, pole bending race, tie-down calf roping, ribbon roping, break-a-way roping, open barrel race and a special one go-round greased pig race.

There will be two go-rounds in each event with the exception of the greased pig race. All entries must be turned in by noon Thursday, August 11.

The riding club is sending out entry information to all of the contestants who entered last year and any other contestants who desire information may call or write Mrs. LaFoy Patterson, Mrs. Herman Wood, C. R. Reynolds or the Hamlin Riding Club.

The Hamlin Semi-Pro Baseball team defeated Aspermont there Sunday, 6-5, in a league game. Hamlin club is in second place in the Brazos Valley League, one game behind Knox City.

Hamlin made their six runs off of nine hits, while Aspermont had 13 hits and only five runs.

Ivy was the winning pitcher and Melton was the losing pitcher.

Hamlin will play Guthrie here Sunday, July 24, at 3 p.m. and Paducah here the following Sunday.

Childhood PLEASURES

"Even a child is known by his doings, whether his work be pure, and whether it be right."

A mother only has to glance at her child to know if his play is pure, or if it is leading to mischief. Our Father in heaven can as easily look on our hearts and judge our ways. "A good man out of the good treasure of the heart bringeth forth good things: and an evil man out of the evil treasure bringeth forth evil things."

Seek the Lord in his house, so that your heart will be right with God.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Neinda Philosopher Comes Out With An Idea For Making Dress Styles An Exact Science

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One is in perilous territory this week, but that's his worry, not ours.

I was temporarily out of newspapers again yesterday and got to thinking about last week and decided there's no use in Frenchmen making all the money out of women's fashions.

I may have missed some of the details, but as I understand it the dress designers main problem is deciding how long a skirt ought to be, and after year's of practice they've found it ought to get shorter or longer every year or so, never stay the same. Also, they've found there's more money in coming down than going up, as any woman can shorten last year's dress but few can lengthen it.

Right now, according to what I've read, the hemlines are coming down, which means of course new wardrobes for everybody. But the big question is, just how long should they be? You drop from the thighs to the ankles in one year and there's no way to go next year but up, and women will get out their scissors instead of their purses. No money in that. Hemlines should come down gradually over the next few years if you want to guarantee annual wardrobe changes.

Consequently I have thought up an idea I'd like to sell to the dress designers.

There's no use in their guessing what length ought to be high fashion. Say for example they decide hemlines ought to come down 8 inches this year. Just by looking, few can tell whether it's actually 8. It could be 10 or 6, and no woman could be absolutely certain she was in style. To avoid all doubt, style ought to be an exact science.

What the designers ought to do is sew a tape measure down the side of the dress made for the new season. Whack off every dress at say the 24-inch mark. Any woman who can read figures would then know whether she's in style. At a party, all she'd have to do is glance around to tell who's in style and who's out.

Next year, drop it 26 inches, 28 the next, etc. When they've run out of tape measure they know it's time to start back up again.

I intend to patent this idea but I'm afraid to come to town now to see about it. Some women don't have a sense of humor.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Seaborg on Science

Electricity from the Atom

By Glenn T. Seaborg, Chairman
U. S. Atomic Energy Commission

Dr. Seaborg

When a utility begins planning a new electricity generating station, it has many energy sources to choose from. The new plant could be powered by coal, by oil, or by natural gas. And recently utilities have been turning to another energy source, and that's the power within the nucleus of the atom.

When an atom splits apart—or "fissions"—it releases a considerable amount of heat that can be used to generate electricity. This energy source is so compact that the energy of 20,000 cubic feet of coal is packed into a one-inch cube of uranium metal.

The first large demonstration of using nuclear power to generate electricity began only 12 years ago, but utilities are already operating or planning about 100 nuclear power plants in 29 different states. We predict that by the year 2000 nuclear plants will account for about half of the electrical capacity of the nation.

Why are so many utilities selecting nuclear power for their new plants? Well, for several reasons. Ten years of experience have proved nuclear plants to be safe, efficient, and uniquely clean, and large-size nuclear power plants are considered competitive economically with conventional generating stations. Nuclear plants also have a number of aesthetic and environmental advantages that are becoming more important to electric utilities. They don't release clouds of combustion products into the atmosphere to add to our air pollution problem, and they don't require special railroad tracks and freight cars that spread dust and noise around the plant site. However, nuclear plants reject somewhat more waste heat than conventional plants.

There will be even more advantages in nuclear power plants as new types of reactors are developed. The Atomic Energy Commission is working on a new type that will be more efficient and more economical than today's reactors. And it will actually be able to produce more nuclear fuel than it consumes—which has led us to call it a "breeder" reactor.

Future developments in nuclear power plants will give our utilities a wider range of choices for their generating stations. When they select nuclear plants, conventional fuels will be released for other applications, such as raw materials for the chemical industry. Because of the limited amount of conventional fuels and the inherent advantages of nuclear power, many of us have come to think of the atom as the fuel of the future.

Mysteries Of Ancient Urn 'Seen'

Neutron radiography, a key performer in the conquest of space and the harnessing of nuclear energy, has turned its probing eye on the secrets of a 2,000-year-old Chinese bronze ceremonial urn.

Neutron radiography, one of science's new techniques for seeing the insides of opaque objects or materials, is a modern complement to X ray. Its high intensity beam of neutrons penetrates solid materials like metal and bone and reveals less compact substances like rubber, plastics, nylon and many liquids which don't show up on X-ray film.

Chou Dynasty

The new see-through technology's versatility was used to examine the urn owned by the Los Angeles County Museum of Art. The urn, buried with the body of a Chinese aristocrat during the late Chou dynasty (1000 to 500 B.C.), probably contained articles valued by the deceased nobleman.

The decoratively etched vessel, 20 inches in diameter and weighing about 40 pounds, was brought to Atomics International at Canoga Park by Dr. Thomas Cairns of the museum's conservation center to learn how it was made and what materials were used in its fabrication.

Inner Structure

Using an Atomic Energy Commission nuclear reactor as a neutron source, technicians made neutron radiographs of the urn. "We wanted to see if neutron radiography would reveal anything exciting about the urn," said Dr. Cairns, "and it did. It

Details of the ancient urn were revealed by a neutron radiograph taken at Atomics International, Canoga Park, Calif., using a nuclear reactor owned by the AEC to provide a high intensity beam of neutrons. The urn (left) is 20 inches in diameter and weighs 40 pounds. (Photographs by Tony Dapello, Atomics International)

Nondestructive

Neutron radiography, which is also available commercially, played an important role in the Apollo space missions, examining more than 200 types of devices ranging from those used to separate the massive booster stages to those which trigger the release of reentry parachutes. The technology is playing an increasingly important role in nondestructive testing of industrial products and equipment and inspecting fuel elements and control rods used in nuclear reactors to ensure safe operation.

In other art applications, neutron radiography can be used as a nuclear detective to determine the authenticity of paintings.

It is expected that in the future neutron radiography can be important as a medical diagnostic technique, and more widespread industrial applications will become routine, filling the voids now left by the limited capabilities of the X-ray technique.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Regardless of how many warning
reports you get about the weather,
there are times when a sudden, unexpected, unpredictable squall hits while you're on the water. And it can upset the best fishing plans.

Sudden storms strike whether you're on the Gulf, on a lake, on a stream, even on a pond. You're likely to be caught while fishing the Gulf,
more frequently than anywhere...
probably because you are farther from shore. Isn't that natural?

Anyway, sometime back a group of us went to Freeport. We had plans for going out to the snapper banks early the next morning. When we retired for the evening everything looked fine. We had listened to the weather reports and everything was "go". But when we stuck our head out the door at 2 a.m. there was a storm blowing. We went back to bed and tried again at 6 o'clock.

Despite the fact that the wind was still high, we got on one of Raymond Muchowich's boats and headed out.
We hadn't gone five miles until practically every man on the boat was sick from bouncing on the high waves.
So, we turned around and headed back.

Another time four of us left Austin for Greer's Ferry lake near Little Rock, Arkansas. When we boarded the plane in Austin it was a beautiful spring day.

We drove the 70 miles from Little Rock, to our fishing area, under a star-filling heaven. But at 4 a.m. we were awakened by wind cracking through the tall pine trees and thunder and lightning that made us wonder if the world was coming to an end.

I could go on and on reporting dozens of such incidents. Each time conditions seemed fine, but turned out different. Sudden weather changes call for more than just having a weather eye out. You need to be prepared for such emergencies.

Always be sure to have good rain gear along, not just some flimsy something, but real gear that not only will keep you dry but warm.

Then have either a tarp or some plastic material to protect your fishing equipment and other paraphernalia aboard. This especially if you're fishing salt water.

Those who carry cameras will do well to keep them in tightly closed plastic bags. In fact, every tackle box should have a few of these large-size plastic bags just for emergencies.

Naturally, life jackets or other safety equipment is a must. Under existing laws in most states, and certainly those covering boats that go out into the Gulf, there are legal requirements about life jackets. This is something every individual should carefully check for his own protection.

Coast-guard approved safety cushions offer some security but they are far from adequate under certain conditions. If all go overboard who's left to toss you a cushion? Or even a life-saving ring. If you can't swim, wear a life jacket at all times. It's better to be called a sissy than a corpse.

There's another good idea, too.
When you are on the water and see indications of an approaching storm, crank up that motor and head back to shore. Or, if you are too far away from your camp, head into the nearest land and make your boat fast. Be sure all your gas tanks are closed well, and that your motor gets protection. Without either of them you may be grounded for quite a spell.

For boat equipment it is well to always have with you either a large tarp or several painter drop cloths made of plastic. They take up practically no space, yet they furnish good,
one-time protection against the elements.

If you must fight out a storm, try to head into the waves and keep the passenger load weight low. The heavy rain may beat into your face, but it also tends to hold down the force of the waves.

Sudden squalls are very frequent during the hot summer months, especially on the Gulf. Most of them give only a short notice of their approach, so be ready and keep a weather eye out for signs of any disturbance of the elements.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

by Vern Sanford

STRAIGHTENING THE LINE

Towing your monofilament line out of the back of the boat while motoring slowly for a few hundred yards will remove the kinks and twists that result when fishing without use of a swivel.

HUNTING EXOTIC GAME

Exotic game hunting is increasing in the United States. There are at least five areas in this country where native game of Africa, India, Germany and even Russia can be hunted on private property for a fee.

BEAGLE GOOD HUNTER

A handy dog for either rabbit or squirrel hunting is the beagle. It can be trained to hunt either or both animals.

PROTECTION FROM THORNS

Bird hunters should wear chaps or padded leg-gins to protect them from thorns and scratches.
If none is available, use the trousers of an old rain suit.

EMERGENCY TACKLE BOX

Plastic egg cartons make ideal small and handy tackle boxes, especially on a boat. Lures can be dropped into the light container compartments and kept handy for instant use or stored for safe keeping until needed.

RETRIEVING LURES

If you have trouble with lures hanging on old tree tops either above or below the water, try using an expandable golf ball retriever. They telescope out to 6 feet and are ideal for knocking plugs loose.

STURGEON FISHING

When you fish for sturgeon, you need heavy equipment. It is the largest freshwater fish in the world. There are more than 20 species and individual fish many times are larger than a man.

State to Regulate Commercial Hog Lots Near Water

Commercial hog lots located near public flowing streams or surface water supplies will be placed under regulation in the near future by the Texas Water Quality Board. Notice of public hearing has been published in 12 daily newspapers across the state. The hearing is set for 10 a.m.,
August 5, at the Terrace
Motor Hotel in Austin.

Also, any swine producing operation may be required to comply with regulations if it is located over a sensitive groundwater area where seepage may cause contamination of wells or other water supply in the neighborhood. Hog farms are subject to regulation if they cause a nuisance or appreciable damage to public waters in the state.

The regulation does not apply to small-farm hog producers unless they are endangering some public water supply. It is primarily written to cover units with 50 or more breeding animals. Five hundred pigs under 50 pounds would also be under regulation.

Anyone interested in receiving a copy of the proposed regulation can get one by writing to the Texas Water Quality Board, 1108 Lavaca, Austin, Texas 78701.
All concerned are invited to write their comments to the Board, or to appear and testify at the hearing.

N. Mexico Couple Expresses Thanks For Assistance

The following letter was received by Connally Ford this past week from James O. Simmons, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dexter, N. Mex., with a request that it be printed in the local newspaper.

I want to express my appreciation to all the community of Hamlin for the reception my family and I received. We had car trouble on highway 180 and through the assistance of all the people we were able to spend the night and were on the road the next day. I especially want to thank those men in the Connally Garage for their work and for their assistance. I also want to thank the family who did so much by taking us around the city. I offered to pay them but they wouldn't accept any money. They were more than kind. I don't remember their name but the man worked for the Highway Department out of Hamlin. I have heard of the hospitality of Texas and now I know what it means. The motel and the cafe where we ate were so kind to accept an out-of-state check as was Mr. Connally.

I hope this will be put into print for I appreciate all that was done for us there.

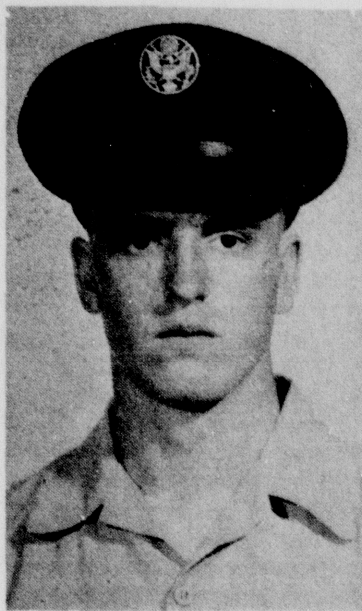

Sincerely,
James O. Simmons
P. S. We made it home with no more trouble.

News deadline is noon Tuesday. Tuesday evening events by 10 p.m. Tuesday or 8:30 a.m. Wednesday.

AUSTIN, — As fast as the state's major finance agencies moved out of the capitol into the new Finance Building, contractors' bids were opened for remodeling of the old quarters to the tune of more than $1 million.

Work soon will be underway on all floors of the capitol, including the basement.

Senators will get private offices of at least 550 square feet each. Bulk of the new Senate space will come from quarters long occupied by the State Comptroller.

House members will have smaller offices — but at least a private office — in the old first-floor State Treasury quarters and the basement.

Senators plan new committee rooms, including one specially wired for sound and tv lights.

Capitol station post office will make an early move into the new Finance Building, clearing the east entrance of the statehouse for restoral to its original splendor.

ENROLLMENT LIMIT ASKED — Soaring public college enrollments prompted a request from the Coordinating Board of the Texas College and University System that each school give "immediate consideration" to the problem.

If voluntary curtailment does not result, Board officials indicated they will ask the Legislature for power to order mandatory ceilings. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held in a recent opinion that the agency does not now have such authority. University of Texas system regents, meanwhile, approved a UT enrollment-control plan and a lottery system for use when units reach capacity.

Coordinating Board at its last meeting also placed the loan program under federal loan insurance to guarantee repayments, advised expulsion of students who are involved in campus disruptions, and directed studies of free credit exchange among all public institutions and possible elimination of unnecessary college courses.

INTEGRATION PRESSED — Federal negotiators conferring with representatives of Texas school districts found 18 not in compliance with desegregation provisions of the 1964 civil rights act.

Sessions are seen as a last-ditch effort to get voluntary integration without a massive lawsuit by the U. S. Justice Department demanding immediate compliance.

Negotiators included three teams representing the civil rights division of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, plus Justice Department Washington headquarters and Dallas regional office.

Texas Education Agency has contacted all 48 districts following receipt of a letter from the Justice Department asking TEA's help in ending school segregation.

School districts were limited to a maximum of three on their negotiating teams — preferably the board president, superintendent and school attorney or board vice-president or another board member.

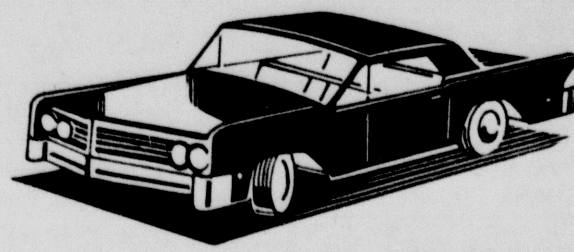

Federal teams limited each district to one-hour hearings. Any agreement, if not worked out in time, will be communicated to HEW as soon as possible after local board discussions.

Each district was requested to bring copies of its own desegregation plans to the Austin meetings.

Independent or consolidated school districts named by the Justice Department as not in compliance were:

Amarillo, Atlanta, Austin, Bellville, Calvert, Carthage, Churchill (annexed to Jacksonville), Concord Rural High, Crockett, Cypress-Fairbanks, Ector County, Elysian Fields, Ferris, Friendship (annexed to Caldwell), Galena Park, Garland, Hearne, Hempstead, Henderson, Jackson, Jasper, Jefferson, Karnack, Katy, Kilgore, Klein, La Vega, Lubbock, Lufkin, Madisonville, Marshall, Midland, Mount Heaven (annexed to Jacksonville), Nacogdoches, Palestine, Port Arthur, Refugio, Richardson, Sabine Pass, San Angelo, San Augustine, Shelbyville, Silsbee, South Park, Sulphur

BY BERNICE WHITE

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Letz returned last Wednesday from a four week trip to Alaska. They were accompanied by their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Vanderworth of Denver, Colo. They traveled by automobile except while in Alaska they took a train, ship or ferry to reach some of the more remote places. They pointed out that at this time of the year there is only daylight in Alaska. The sun sets for several hours but it never gets quite dark.

Some of the points where they visited were Fairbanks, Juneau, Mount McKinley State Park, and Kenai, where the Russians established the first settlement for fur trading and fishing. There were also many other interesting points, they said.

Herbert Dippel of Stamford has recently been dismissed from the Stamford Hospital and is here visiting several days in the home of his sisters. He spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Letz, now he is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Klump and also will spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Letz.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Dunham were his sister and her husband Mr. and Mrs. James Messenger from West Cavina, Calif. and his mother, Mrs. Mary Dunham of Arizona.

Last week the Glen Dunhams vacationed in New Mexico. They visited Raton Pass and enjoyed the cool weather in various other points in the New Mexico mountains.

Two men from Lubbock, Roy Wienke and Jackie Gerloff, spent several days here last week visiting their mothers, Mrs. W. G. Wienke and Mrs. Katie Gerloff.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Letz and Brian of Wichita Falls spent last weekend here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Letz.

Weekend visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. L.
